

AMY POTTS

Volunteer Development Coordinator

Amy Potts is the Volunteer Development Coordinator with Serve Kentucky, coordinating the Service Enterprise Initiative, a volunteer management certification program of the Points of Light Foundation. Previously, Amy worked as the Director of Preservation Kentucky's Heritage Program, providing educational workshops, and technical assistance for nonprofit organizations, local governments and property owners on models of best practices for rural preservation. Amy participated in National Service as an AmeriCorps member in 1997, helping develop service learning projects for school classrooms. She lives in Frankfort with her husband and two sons and in her free time, works to restore previously “unloved” historic buildings.
